Unseen Passage I

It is a common belief that industrialization is the main contributing factor for the degradation of environment and human health. But this is not very true. It is the gift of industrialization that we are able to feed such a large population. The Green Revolution took place only due to industrialization. Urea, fertilizers, pesticides, etc. began to be produced only after industrialization. Besides, mechanical equipment for agriculture like tractors, threshers, combines, etc. began to be manufactured in big industries.

Industrialization is also the basis of our modern and technologically advanced world. Most of the appliances that we use for our comfort are also produced in the industries. Moreover, lifesaving drugs and medical equipment are also the gift of our scientific research and industrialization.

Sample Questions

Q.1. Why was Green Revolution not possible without industrialization?

Q.2. How is industrialisation related to our comfort?

Q.3. What is the role of industrialization in saving the lives of people?

Q.4. Industries cause a lot of pollution, still they are important. Why?

Write 'T' for true and 'F' for false statements.

Q.1. Industrialization is the only reason behind pollution.
