

Some Important Points

Clay and loam are suitable for growing wheat.
Clay soil is used to make pots, toys and statues.

$$\text{Percolation rate (ml by minutes)} = \frac{\text{Amount of water (ml)}}{\text{Percolation time (min)}}$$

The best soil for growing plants is loam.
The rotting dead matter is called humus.