IV. Long Answer Questions

Question 1.

Explain the essentials of a Valid Contract

Answer:

Offer and Acceptance:

There must be two parties to an agreement namely one party making the offer and the other party accepting it.

Legal Relationship:

The parties must have the intention to create legal relations between them. An agreement of Social or domestic nature is not at all a contract.

Lawful Consideration (quid pro quo):

As per Contract Act under Sec.2 (d) Consideration means something in return. A contract without consideration becomes invalid. It may be in cash or kind or in any form as specified in the act. Consideration must not be unlawful, immoral or opposed to the public policy.

Lawful Object (Section 23):

The object of the agreement should be lawful and legal. It must not be immoral, illegal or opposed to public policy. Two persons cannot enter into an agreement to do a criminal act.

Free Consent (Section 13 & 14):

Consent of the parties must be free and genuine. Consent means agreeing upon same thing in the same sense at the same time i.e. there should be a consensus – ad – idem. Consent is said to be free when it is not caused by coercion, undue influence, fraud, misrepresentation, or mistake.

Capacity of Parties (Section 11):

The parties to a contract must have the capacity (legal ability) to make valid contract.

Certainty of Terms (Section 29):

The agreement should be clear to the parties of the agreement. The agreement must be precise.

For example, X informs Y "I agree to sell my car". X has four cars. Here nothing is stated about which car he is going to sell. There is no clarity of terms.

Possibility of Performance (Section 56):

The terms of the agreement should be capable of performing. An agreement to do an act, impossible in itself cannot be enforced. For example, A agrees to B to discover a new planet. The agreement is void because the act in itself is impossible to be performed from the very beginning.

Not declared Void:

The agreement should be such that it should be capable of being enforced by law. Certain agreements have been expressly declared illegal or void by the law.

Necessary Legal Formalities:

A contract may be oral or in writing. Where a particular type of contract is required by law to be in writing and registered, it must comply with necessary formalities as to writing, registration, and attestation. If legal formalities are not carried out then the contract is not enforceable by law.

All illegal agreements are Void but all void agreements or contracts are not necessarily illegal. A contract that is immoral or opposed to public policy is illegal in nature, i. Unlike illegal agreements, there is no punishment to the parties to avoid agreement, ii. Illegal agreements are void from the very beginning but sometimes valid contracts may subsequently become void.

5. Unenforceable Contract:

Where a contract is unenforceable because of i some technical defect i.e. absence in writing j barred by imitation etc. If the parties perform j the contract it will be valid, but the court will j not compel them if they do not.

1. Express Contract: A contract made by word spoken or written. According to Section. 9, in so far as the proposal or acceptance of any promise is made in words, the promise is said to be express. For example, P says to Q 'will you buy my bicycle for Rs. 1,000?' Q says to P "Yes".

2. Implied Contract: The implied contract is one, which is not expressly written but understood by the conduct of parties. Where the proposal or acceptance of any promise is made otherwise than in words, the promise is said to be implied. For example, A gets into a public bus, there is an implied contract that he will pay the bus fare.

3. Quasi Contract: It is a contract created by law. Actually, there is no contract. It is based on the principle that “a person shall not be allowed to enrich himself unjustly at the expense of the other”. A contract in which both the parties commit to performing their respective promises is called a bilateral contract. For example, R offers to sell his fiat car to S for Rs. 10, 00,000 on acceptance of R's offer by S, there is a promise by R to sell the car and there is a promise by S to purchase the car, there are two promises.
