Sir,

Kindly publish my views on Modern Fashions in the esteemed column of your paper.

A rat race for fashions is causing several problems. Young boys and girls like to change their dresses, hair styles, color of their hair and hobbies almost every day. They are in the habit of aping either the westerners or their favorite heroines and heroines from films or television shows in all these matters. In their craze for new fashions, they get on the nerves of their parents who cannot afford to fulfill their increasing demands. T.V. ads and eyes-catching commercials misguide the people into running after several Novelties that is actually not as useful as claimed. Young boys and girls should refrain from running after fashions and advertisement and should use their own brains. Since fashions change every day the hard-earned money for the parents should not be spent on wasteful luxury items that have to be discarded after a single use. Fashions take a high toll and mislead people into wasting money.

With thanks.

Yours truly,

XYZ.
