

The Indian Soldier

Life of soldier is really tough. He is all the time on duty, even beyond his normal working hours. And Indian soldier is known for his sense of duty and dedication. He is a true patriot, always prepared to lay down his life in the service of his motherland. He has to undergo a rigorous training before taking up his job as a regular soldier. As a soldier, he is perfectly disciplined and decent in this ways. He is ready to accept any challenge any time, in any part of the country. In war time, he fights at the front. When there is peace he helps the government in meeting any emergency or calamity that the country may be called upon to face. He is brave and courageous. He always maintains the true traditions of the great Indian army. He knows that his job is to obey the orders of the superiors and not to question their decisions. He is loyal to the country. He works in sun or shine, snow or shower, without any complaint or hesitation. May God help him to maintain the glory and integrity of this great country.
