My Hobby

Hobby means a useful pursuit that delights a man or woman when he or she enjoys leisure. Hobbies are usually followed when one is not occupied in the routine work of any sort and enjoys leisure.

People pass their time in useful pursuits. Gardening attracts some of them; photography attracts others; while coin-collecting is enjoyed by many others. But these hobbies are followed by the people according to their respective tastes.

Everyone cannot afford to buy a cinema ticket and entertain himself. This does not mean that they remain deprived of recreation. They amuse themselves by the hobbies of their own choice. Therefore, hobbies are a sort of cheap source that gives pleasure to people.

I have got a number of hobbies such as story-telling and gardening. I take delight in telling stories of fairy godmothers and others. Wherever I find a story, I read it out to the children. They feel overjoyed to hear such rare stories. I love children very much and therefore I try to collect and read out as many new stories as I can. It is my hobby to learn stories and to narrate them to the children. In my home, you will find more than a hundred books on stories of different types. All these stories I have read out at least once. Now I can tell you tales from Greece, Rome or ancient Egypt, whichever you like. I know stories from ancient India as well. These stories are really very interesting.

I think like a child who loves tales. In addition to the storytelling. I love gardening. This is the hobby which I have reserved for my spare time. I pass my spare time gardening. I have got a big bungalow, where my parents reside. All around the bungalow, there are plants of flowers and fruit trees. I am the person who has planted all these flowers. I water and manure them and look after them. I am a student of Agriculture and thus know all these things. I take special delight in planting flowers. When the flowers bloom, they provide me (with) enough joy. Gardening inspires me to be in love with nature. Nature provides us with enough joy.

Gardening is also a source of joy. This world is full of sorrow and everybody feels the pangs of sorrow in one way or the other. In order to keep himself happy, he has to undertake one or the other hobby. Therefore, hobbies become the source of pleasure. Hobbies help us regain our lost energy. Hobbies refresh our minds.

Hobbies remove all our fatigue and worries. They prove to be our best companions. Hobbies are good for every person. I know one of my neighbours who sing and dances when he is free. I saw him in his moments when he was extremely happy. I wanted to know the source of his happiness and it was nothing but his deep interest in singing and dancing that I noticed in him.

I also like to sing and dance, but everyone can't pursue the same hobby to the same extent. I cannot find so much pleasure out of singing and dancing as I do from gardening, photography, and other pastimes that I have already mentioned. Different tastes are the basis of all of them. My hobby is a very useful pursuit and it not only delights me, but it delights many others also.

My Hobby

There are many kinds of people in this world. Some spend their spare time pursuing interesting habits, while others waste their time in wasteful exercises like gossiping, etc.

Hobbies are carefully cultivated interesting habits. They could be anything reading, listening to music or cooking. Some people like to spend their spare time gardening or collecting stamps.

I have taken up reading as a hobby. I am a voracious reader. I read almost everything, except the literature relating to politics.

Reading gives me pleasure; it stimulates my mind. There have been times when I have come across certain books and articles which have left me very puzzled. It is because they have propounded those ideologies that go against the very principles of our ancient society. Such literature is usually about hatred, separation, and secession. It says that India should once again be divided according to the different religions, and those who refuse to accept this division should be eliminated. After reading these poisonous thoughts, I feel as if I am not living in India, a bastion of peace, any longer.

Then there are books written by stalwarts like Jiddu Krishnamurthy, Sri Aurobindo, S. Radhakrishnan, etc. which have filled me with hope and pleasure. These great thinker-philosophers have been successfully redeeming my faith in mankind. I have the same feeling when I read about everyday incidents of communal harmony and religious tolerance, I feel proud of my country when I read about young people who have achieved great heights in fields of science, management, arts, etc.

Reading besides providing emotional satisfaction, also gives valuable information about people, places, and objects. It is through books that I have visited many foreign countries, traveled in spaceships, had conversations and gained insight into the thoughts of the world leaders.

Indeed, reading for me is more than a hobby. it is a passion, that I can never leave.
