

IAS Mains Psychology 1993

Paper II

Section A

1. Answer any three questions of the following (Each answer should not exceed 200 words):
  - a. Examine the methods of reliability and validity of psychological tests. Does one guarantee the other?
  - b. Critically examine the relative efficacy of different leadership styles in management. Offer your own views in the matter.
  - c. What are essential social and psychological characteristics of change proneness? Illustrate your answer with a special reference to a certain personality syndrome
  - d. What are the components of work motivation? Does it mainly depend on financial incentives?
2. Discuss the basic differences between psychotic and neurotic behaviour disorders. Can the same line of treatment be used in treating both types of cases?
3. Discuss the psychological characteristics of a group. How does interactional process analysis measure group dynamics?
4. What are the psychological and social factors behind the resistances of change? Draw up an action programme to remove the resistances in changing common stereotypes.

Section B

5. Answer any three of the following (Each answer should not exceed 200 words):
  - a. How would you differentiate mentally retarded children from the normal in a classroom situation? Suggest measures both at home and school for successful training of such children.
  - b. Do you agree with the view that prejudice is an essential element of a certain personality syndrome? How does it develop in home situation?
  - c. Discuss the psychological and social problems of the Aged. Draw up a rehabilitation and counselling programme for them.
  - d. Describe the motivational problems of the disadvantaged children. What ameliorative steps need be taken both at home and school to meet this deficiency?
6. Critically examine the view that adolescent period is marked by greater emotional instability and social protest syndrome. Describe the remedial measures to handle this programme.
7. Describe the factors both at home and outside which create and strengthen achievement motivation. Is it in any way related to entrepreneur syndrome?
8. Is drug addiction basically a deviant coping mechanism? State the psychological and social factors which have to be tackled for the successful rehabilitation of drug addicts.