On a rainy Sunday afternoon, one year from the day my mother was admitted to the hospital, I suddenly knew the time had come to remember and honour her life and her death. From a month, I kept on reading the note book. When I finished reading, I realized that my mother was no longer lost to me; in some new and different way I had regained her. From my notes, dated January 21, 1985. My mother continues to amaze me. Despite what is happening to her body, she continues to appreciate nature and the small bits of life. Her room no. 235 has a large window. She enjoys watching birds busily flying outside.

It is important for us all to think in terms of first reducing our emissions of CO₂ or Carbon Footprints. The carbon footprint is a subset of the ecological footprint. A carbon footprint is the total set of greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions (release) caused by an organization, event, product or person. Greenhouse gases can be emitted through transport, land clearance, and the production and consumption (use) of food, fuels, manufactured goods, materials, wood, roads, buildings, and services. For simplicity of reporting, it is often expressed in terms of the amount of carbon dioxide, or its equivalent of other GHGs, emitted.

1. What does the carbon footprint consist of?
2. Why is the transport and production of food harmful to us?

Then there are ants that domesticate 'cows' and 'milk' them! What we have called 'cow' are a kind of greenfly. These are found on rose leaves and on the leaves of beans. They give out a sweet, honey-like liquid which the ants relish a lot. So the ants take these greenflies to their nests and keep them there. They feed them, protect them from their enemies; and they 'milk' them, pressing their sides gently and making them give out their honey.

3. Where are 'cows', referred in the read, found?
4. How do ants get honey from the cows, greenflies?

"Will the workers walk into this trap? Will they be fooled again? I am afraid so. The people have always been susceptible to oratory of this sort. The workers know they have no enemies except their masters. They know that their citizenship papers are no warrant for the safety of their wives and children. They know that honest sweat, persistent toil and years of struggle bring them nothing on to, worth fighting for. Yet, deep down in their foolish hearts they believe them a country. Oh blind vanity of slaves!"

5. Against whom does the writer warn the workers?
6. Why are slaves considered as the blind lovers of the Nation?

Walt was a complex man. To the writers, producers and animators who worked with him, he was a genius who had an extraordinary ability to add an extra stroke of imagination to any story or idea. To the millions of people who watched his TV show, he was a warm, kindly personality, bringing fun and pleasure into their homes. To the bankers who financed us, I'm sure he seemed like a wild man, hell-bent for bankruptcy. To me, he was my amazing kid brother, full of impractical dreams that he made come true.

7. What do the writer and publishers think about Walt?
8. The bankers think that Walt _____.

Orphaned (lost his parents) at a very young age, Salim Ali was brought by his maternal uncle. As a child Salim was given an expensive air gun as a present and spent all his time shooting sparrows around the . house. One day he noticed that one of the sparrows he had shot at had a yellow throat. He couldn't hold his curiosity and approached his uncle. His uncle who was equally clueless took him to the Bombay Natural History Society in the hope of finding an answer. There, the honorary secretary, W.S. Millard told him that the bird was the Yellow Throated Sparrow. Millard also told him about the variety of sparrows. That day Salim decided that he was going to be an Ornithologist. No one would have imagined that the bird shooter would become a bird lover and nature conservator one day!!

The Times of Gujarat (Ahmedabad)

'Beti Bachao Beti Padhao' (Save the girl child and educate the girl child) is a scheme launched by the Government in January 2015. The purpose of launching this scheme was generating awareness as well as improving the efficiency of welfare services for women and girl child in the Indian society. The initial capital required for initiating this scheme was Rs. 100 crores. The launch of this scheme was very much required as according to census data of 2001, child sex ratio of age group 06 years was 927 girls/1000 boys in our country. It was seen a huge drop in the sex ratio 918 girls /1000 boys in 2011. India was ranked 41st among 195 countries worldwide by the UNICEF in 2012 that's why the scheme for girls was very much necessary to aware people about the safety of women all over India. This scheme also makes a call to people to eradicate female foeticides.

Questions:

11. How much fund did the government require to implement this scheme?
12. What is India's place in the world in gender ratio?
13. Why did the census data of 2011 make the Government think?
14. What was the purpose of the scheme 'Beti Bachao Beti Padhao'?
