

The Lion and The Mouse

Once a lion was sleeping near a river. A mouse while searching for food crawled over the body of the lion. The lion was disturbed in his sleep. The lion woke up and caught the mouse in its paw. He was about to kill the mouse but the mouse begged for forgiveness. Lion is a large-hearted animal. He took pity on the mouse and realized it. A number of days passed. The lion was caught in the hunters net. He roared and struggled to free himself. The same little mouse heard the roar. It rushed out its hole. It recognized the lion. It started cutting ropes of net with its sharp teeth. The lion became free. kindness is always rewarded.

Moral: do good, find good.

Or

Forgiveness is always rewarded.