Letter from Abroad

Dear Brother,

Thanks for your letter dated 9th June. I am grateful to you for your valued comments.

I hope you will visit England and see the Western World. If you have enough time at your disposal, it will be more economical and interesting if you land at Genoa in Italy. Then travel across the continent. In this way, you will see Europe without any extra coast.

In case you decide that, make sure to buy your railway ticket from Italy to London through your shipping agents. This will be much cheaper than if you buy one directly, because of an agreement between the shipping companies and railways.

In case you decide to come suddenly, I would like you to bring some Indian sweets and Amritsari Papadams.

Trust everybody is hale and hearty at home. My health is good. In fact, my weight has been increasing rapidly since I left college. It is now 11s. 5 lbs., exactly the very standard for my age and height and I wish it stops at this figure or it will be a great worry.

Wishing you all the best,

Sawan
