

Newspaper Reading

Newspaper plays an important role in a democracy. It acts as mirror that reflects the views and opinions of the public and the govt. It helps in framing one's own flies about the existing leaders. Their policies and activities helps the voter to judge and activities helps the voter to judge and carefully cast their vote during the elections. The additional section various current issues. Because of the powerful advantage that the newspapers enjoy they have been rightfully called the fourth Estate.

People do not read newspapers just for political events. There are information columns on everybody entertainments like TV, Radio, Theater, Movies, etc and businessmen. The eligible candidates eagerly go through the appointments section with a hope of finding a suitable job opportunity. There are a number of classified advertisements for matrimonial alliances, jobs, property dealings, kennels and livestock's.

As we read the newspaper page by page, we realize that not all news is good news. There is sadness too. There are columns on those who have died and there are criminal reports which knocks at our brain telling us to be alert all the while. Many leading newspapers have a weekly grievance section means for organization.